In economics, an externality is a cost or benefit for a third party who did not agree to it. Air pollution from motor vehicles is one example. The cost of air pollution to society is not paid by either the producers or users of motorized transport. The concept of externality was first developed by economist Arthur Pigou in the 1920s.. The prototypical example of a negative externality is ...

Foundational Works. RD was an attempt to synthesize two somewhat divergent views concerning the context of organizational change: a diffuse view of "environments" that was being developed by scholars like the author of Thompson 1967 and a more political and power-oriented emphasis on inter-organizational dependence. In this way, RD's theory of power can be traced to earlier research by ...
